LEISURE: ENHANCING THE HUMAN CONDITION

The World Leisure Congress: Where Work and Play Coincide

No other event on the planet does what the WLC does. By bringing together the leading minds in the leisure field explore best practices, innovative projects, and surprising research results, our work has a serious global impact. Yet many of the experiences are just plain fun.

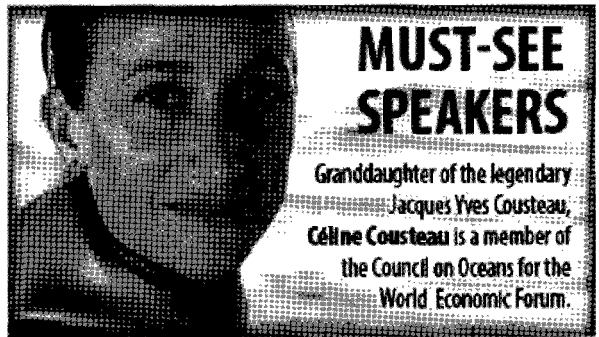

Mobile, Alabama, USA is gearing up for an event as awesome as the city itself. In turn, the WLC is collaborating on plans to leave our legacy. This time, our project is the first annual Civil Rights Games - our chance to be part of U.S. history and one of the many ways we're enhancing the human condition in 2014.

Must-See Speakers Take the Main Stage

Keynote speaker Dr. Regina Benjamin has served as U.S. Surgeon General, Vice Admiral, and medical board Trustee and brings incredible insight to all health and human services matters.

The work that Mike Mushett does as Director of Paralympic Sport Outreach and Development impacts thousands of communities and earned him a U.S. Olympic Lifetime Achievement award.

Celine Cousteau documents life on land, with an emphasis on international and intercultural dynamics. We can't wait to hear about her latest adventures in the Brazilian Amazon.

Call for Papers: Are You Ready To Be a Thought Leader?

Don't miss your chance to contribute to the world reservoir of leisure knowledge. The WLC Program Committee is actively soliciting scientific and professional presentations exploring the what, how and why of leisure projects. Share your findings with your peers and see the impact grow exponentially.
